

“Brilliant” is how the latest client describes the service he received when buying his new home in the sun in the Los Chalets complex in Playa Blanca – a great testimony to the friendly and helpful service you can expect from Residencial Los Chalets commercial team

A DREAM come true with Los Chalets

Name: John Murphy
From: Kinsale, County Cork

Irishman, John Murphy, first fell in love with Lanzarote’s laid back charm on holiday here 10 years ago. He’s returned every year, but this year he wanted to make things a bit more permanent and was on the look out for a suitable property to turn into his home from home for nine months of the year. Playa Blanca was the destination of choice for this water sports lover, and it was during a short break there in May that he noticed the ‘for sale’ sign at Los Chalets, Montaña Roja.

With his curiosity piqued he popped into the Residencial Los Chalets showroom for more information, and three weeks later he had the keys to his new sunshine pad, complete with pool.

“I had been looking for a suitable place for around 12 months,” said John. “Because I have a boat I needed a property that was easy to access and park my boat and trailer securely off road, when I was shown this house it was just perfect.”

John praises the help he received from Residencial Los Chalets commercial team, saying that they did everything they could to make the move as easy as possible. “They even sourced and planted the garden for me.”

John plans to live in Playa Blanca for nine months of the year, spending the rest back home in Kinsale, County Cork. But he’s sure the house won’t be empty for long. “I’ve got a big family, and quite a few of them have said they’d be up for a holiday over here, so I think it’s going to be well used by us all!”

The small complex consists of 26 spacious and contemporarily designed semi-detached bungalows. Each property sits on an average plot of 500m², has 2/3 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms a double garage and a swimming pool. They have been constructed with unique materials to a very high standard and are located on a secluded estate with wide avenues and magnificent views. Playa Blanca is the most popular zone among new residents at the moment, owing to its fantastic beaches, gorgeous climate and laid back, elegant atmosphere.
